

The Beth Isaiah Congregation invites you to attend the

Richard C. Youngman Memorial Lecture

Sunday, September 21st at 8:00 pm

Beth Isaiah Synagogue | 47 Surrey Street, Guelph, Ontario

We are pleased to present
The Jewish Roots of Broadway with
JORDAN KLAPMAN

Join us for a live musical performance and fascinating journey tracing the indelible influence of Gershwin, Kern, Berlin and Rogers & Hart/Hammerstein on the music of the 20th Century.

Jordan, a native of Kitchener-Waterloo, is a versatile pianist, bandleader, accompanist, vocalist and composer with more than twenty years experience performing across North America.

Jordan also performs and lectures extensively on the Jewish roots of American music, with a lecture series tracing the origins of modern American music dating from the mid 18th century up until the music of today.

Refreshments will be served following the lecture.
Don't miss this fascinating & enlightening programme.

Your attendance and support of these free lectures is very much appreciated. We hope to see you there.
